 DEFENDANT'S MOTION FOR A LIMITED AMENDMENT TO THE CONDITIONS OF HIS RELEASE

Now comes the defendant, George Kandirakis, and moves this Honorable Court for permission to visit his family in Pennsylvania for a gathering to celebrate a belated Mother's Day, and to bid farewell to his cousin Scott Williamson, a reservist, who is being deployed to Iraq. The family has planned to celebrate all family occasions the weekend of June 10, 2005, in Taylor, Pennsylvania at the home of Betty Harrity, George Kandirakis' maternal grandmother.

In support of this Motion for a Limited Amendment to the Conditions of his Release, the defendant states that:

1. Assistant United States Attorney Nancy Rue has assented to this motion.
2. The defendant's Case Supervisor has approved the visit pending this Court's approval.

3. The defendant proposes to leave New York on June 10, 2005, travel to Taylor, PA, and return to New York by June 12, 2005.
4. The defendant will travel to and from Taylor PA in the company of his sister, Mia Kandirakis.
5. The defendant's grandmother, Betsy Harritty, lives at 351 Haverford Drive, Taylor PA. The telephone number at that address is 914-393-0440.

Respectfully Submitted,
GEORGE KANDIRAKIS
By his attorney,

AFFIDAVIT OF COUNSEL IN SUPPORT OF DEFENDANT'S MOTION FOR A LIMITED AMENDMENT TO THE CONDITIONS OF HIS RELEASE

I, Rosemary Curran Scapicchio, under the pains and penalties of perjury, hereby depose and state the following:

1. In April 2005 my client requested, and the United States Attorney's office assented to, a limited amendment to the conditions of release for the defendant to visit his mother on Mother's Day.
2. At that time, I was on trial in Suffolk County Superior Court in the matter of Commonwealth v. John Montero, a first-degree murder. Because the trial took longer than anticipated, I was not able to file the Assented to Motion for Mother's Day in a timely fashion.
3. The family agreed to post-pone Mother's Day, and to combine it with other family occasions, and celebrate at a later date in order that I might file a timely request with this Court for the temporary amendment to allow the defendant to travel to his grandmother's house in Taylor, Pennsylvania.

4. Assistant United Statutes Attorney Nancy Rue has assented to this motion.

Signed under the pains and penalties of perjury this 27th day of May 2005.
